SUNSHINE LAW NOTICE

While FSBA meetings and trainings are not official meetings generally subject to Florida's Sunshine Law, the Law nonetheless applies to any gathering, formal or informal, where two or more members of the same board discuss matters that may come before that board in the future. To avoid any appearance of impropriety, we recommend trying to avoid sitting with your fellow board members during any session where you believe the topic of conversation may be one that your board could foreseeably act upon in the future.

Four of the demographic disruptors—slowing total and foreign-born population growth, certain demographic population loss, and declining fertility—have evolved over the past several decades. The remaining three—deaths of despair, cognitive impairments, and declining labor force participation—are rooted in recent crises that have created a major demographic depression in the U.S. age structure. Strategies for moving K-12 education forward in the current era of turbulence and uncertainty will be discussed. About Dr. Johnson: James H. Johnson Jr. is the William R. Kenan Jr. Distinguished Professor of strategy and entrepreneurship in the Kenan-Flagler Business School and director of the Urban Investment Strategies Center in the Frank Hawkins Kenan Institute of Private Enterprise at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. His research interests include community and economic development, the effects of demographic changes on the U.S. workplace, interethnic minority conflict in advanced industrial societies, poverty and public policy in urban America, and workforce diversity issues. He has published more than 100 scholarly research articles and three research monographs and has co-edited four theme issues of scholarly journals on these and related topics. Currently, he is researching strategies to combat hyper-segregation, persistent and concentrated poverty, and gentrification-induced residential and economic dislocations in U.S. cities. And he currently works with gentrifying cities to develop roadmaps for inclusive and equitable economic development that creates shared prosperity. Fast Company profiled him in “Hopes and Dreams.” He received his PhD from Michigan State University, his MS from the University of Wisconsin at Madison, and his BS from North Carolina Central University.     Sponsored By:  	Audubon A/B/C 1 CBM pt.

Breakout Session I

The Real Talk: Why AI Initiatives Are Stalling in Florida School Districts

This candid session goes beyond the hype to confront the real challenges school districts face when launching AI initiatives. Drawing from experiences across Florida, the discussion will unpack the political, structural, and resource barriers that cause projects to stall before they begin. Participants will gain insights into navigating departmental turf wars, building administrator buy-in, and supporting teachers through implementation. The session will also address the lack of dedicated funding, the uncertainty over where AI oversight belongs, and the expertise gap in evaluating tools for educational use. Attendees will leave with practical frameworks, sustainable professional development strategies, and actionable approaches for moving forward—rooted in the realities districts are working within, not the idealized scenarios often presented in AI guides.
